

Alpharetta Public Safety Foundation

Supporting those who protect us

History

In August 2006 a group of local citizens formed the Alpharetta Public Safety Foundation, Inc. (APSF) to help Alpharetta remain a safe place to work, live and play by supporting our local police and firefighters.

In 2007 the initial board of directors was joined by a Department of Public Safety Advisory Council consisting of police and firemen and a Business Advisory Council. This means that in our community, ordinary citizens, businessmen and public safety officials meet routinely to discuss their needs and to explore ways to solve current problems and plan for the future.

Why should my business provide financial support to the Foundation?

The APSF supports programs that enhance safety and security for my customers and employees. The APSF facilitates communication with the DPS which offers my business, programs that will make my customers, employees and their families safer and better protected. Supporting the APSF demonstrates to our customers and employees that we are actively involved in sharing the responsibility for ensuring that our community remains a world class city.

How You Can Help

Our goal in 2011 is to raise funds from a variety of sources (corporate donations, private donations, grants, etc.) and use those funds to buy equipment or create programs which assist our police officers and firefighters in their pursuit of excellence in public safety.

Example:

We provided cameras in squad cars this year that automatically scan license plates for wants, warrants, drug history, stolen vehicle, etc. and alert officers to take action to stop crime before it happens.

Our Heroes

The Alpharetta Department of Public Safety (Police, Fire, Communications) are there to help us when there's a problem we can't solve on our own.

Luckily for us a team of well trained, top notch professionals stands ready to do their level best to help us when we need help the most. Our community is blessed with a superb Department of Public Safety, rated as one of the nation's best.
